It is no longer the feeble hand of "Republicanism" that holds the reins or runs the machine but that bold, dashing Northwest party, which will ask what it wants and will have it.

It may be said that these new members of Congress don't go immediately into office, and, therefore, that the elections will not have the proper practical effect. It isn't the new members of Congress that is one of the most important results in the late contest. It is the moral effect of the late victory. It is the known and published will of the people, to which Presidents and Cabinets must bow or break. Why, it is asked by some, are not peace propositions offered to the Confederates? Certainly, all persons are anxious for peace on a proper basis. We suppose there is no one so unnatural as to wish to have the war carried on merely for the luxury of destroying life, or laying waste the country, and the appeal sounds more arms and ammunition? Let the Republican reasonable on the surface than it is in fact. Those who sincerely ask this question, should bear it in mind that there is, and has always been, an open and tangible peace proclamation made, and open to the people in rebellion. They have only to acknowledge the Constitution in force over them, and return to their allegiance, and they cannot only have peace, but what is the highest liberality, have a vote upon the terms which they deem most acceptable. Let any State wanting peace elect members to the National Congress, and they will, as far as the United States is concerned, have peace at once, and not only peace, but protection. For this reason sincere lovers of peace should bear it in mind that we cannot have it only because the rebels will not have peace upon the only terms which could be constitutionally made by the Government. We are at war because the rebels have their hands at our throats and refuse terms of accommodation. The doctrine of Secession, which they wish to have acknowledged, would be fatal to the Union, not only in giving up the secoded States, but also in the solemn affirmation that there was no real tie binding the States which remained us a tier of States, but would disintegrate the Federal Union. It would incorporate the doctrine of Secession, which the rebels have fixed in their Constitution, into our own, since no State could consistently be refused if it chose hereafter to secede.

The theory of the right of secession is manifestly absurd. Here a number of himself acting as Provost Marshal. While States have joined in partnership. A student, says the Cologne Gazette raveling a few days back on the railway to this place, to light a eigar, took a phosphoric match from a box which he had just before purchased at Elberfield. The matches being tightly packed, the young man introduced his finger nail between them to extract one, when a small portion of phosphorus passed under the nail and ignited. Although the flame was immediately extinguished, the hand had swelled so much on arriving at Dusseldorf that a surgeon advised its amputation. The student would net consent, and proceeded to Cologne, but on arriving there the swelling had so much extended as to render the amputation of both his hand and arm necessary.

Another "Outrage" by an American Vessel.

DESTRUCTION OF A REBEL PRIVATEER IN WATERS-THE EXCITEMENT IN By the arrival of the steamship Saxon, from Havana, we have dates from that city to the 10th and from Vera Cruz to the 1st instant. Considerable excitement has been caused at Havana, and throughout the entire Island, by an alleged "outrage" by the officers of an American man-of-war. The facts of the case are briefly these: On the afternoon of the 7th instant a steamer was seen rapidly approaching the Spanish coast, about six miles to the westward of the Moro Castle, pursued by a man-of-war. The steamer had British colors flying at the time, and the pursuer, from her general appearance, was a United States vessel. The captain of the British ship was clearly endeavoring to make for the harbor of Havana, but the American headed her off and the vessel was forced to run

Launches were at once dispatched from the cruiser to capture the captain and crew, and to get off the steamer, if possible. No sooner had the launches ouched the shore, however, when a detachment of Spanish soldiers were seen approaching, on the appearance of which the commanders of the boats gave directions to fire the vessel, which was immediately done, and the launches returned to the war steamer, taking with them the pilot of the destroyed vessel, whom they had cap-tured. The cruiser immediately proceeded to sea. The ship destroyed proved to be the steamer Blancke, last from the port of Molato, where she had stopped for coal.

As to her mission and to where she belonged accounts differ; some say that ture, &c., having taken refuge here), and she was a slaver, others, doubtless more correct, affirm that she hailed from Port Lavacca, Texas, and had a cargo of cotton. The man-of-war is supposed to have been either the "Dacotah" or "Montgomery," but these suppositions are doubtless erroneous,

> The affair, as above stated, had caused a great sensation among the "Dons," and spanish men of-war were at once dispatched demand of the U. S. commander an explanation of his conduct, but they had reurned without finding him. It is said the facts of the case will at once be laid before the Home Government. The Havana papers, being mostly in the nterest of the Government, have but little to say in reference to the matter, and are extremely cautious in their utterances. Rebel Treatment of Prisoners.

A correspondent of the Chicago Times who had a conversation with returned prisoners, captured at Pittsburg Landing along with Gen. Prentiss, writes as follows: THEIR TRRATMENT.

Immediately after their capture at Shiloh, the rebels commenced robbing the Federal officers of their swords, and did not suspend their efforts until they had gotten possession of all that had not been broken. Federal officers protested against this, as contrary to the usages of civilized warfare, but without avail. An officer of the Twelfth Iowa was informed by a rebel Colonel that he might keep his sword. Soon after another rebel officer came along and demanded it, and, upon it being refused, he seized a musket and with the butt knocked the Federal officer down, and then took his

All the Federal side arms were given up with the express promise, on the part of the rebel officers, that they should be returned, which of course never happened. Watches, knives, rings, everything followed their side arms; protest or resistance was use-less. A demand for anything, not instantly complied with, would be enforced by blow from the butt of a pistol.

sword. The officer soon after recovered his senses, but had received an ugly wound, which he did not recover in three

From first to last, the rations of the national prisoners were meager in quantity and miserable in quality—many times even loathsome. When complaints were made loathsome. When complaints were made against such treatment, the invariable reply was that it was the best they could do: heir own soldiers had no better; it was all to our blockade, &c. In the same owing breath, however, they would declare that their armies were well fed, and their resources for carrying on the war abundant. While at Montgomery the prisoners would have suffered from starvation had they not made clay pipes, bone rings, and other tri-fles, which they exchanged for food. In eating they were fed on wooden plates, with wooden forks and spoons, in cases where prisoners did not have money to purchase tter articles.

While at Montgomery our men housed in open cotton sheds, with no floor to lie on, and without blankets. Many of the deaths may be directly traced to this ex-posure in vermin-haunted sheds. Of the Shiloh prisoners over 100 privates and 15 commissioned officers died during their confinement, and, as the Southern press re-fused to publish the names of those who died, the fate of many will never be known by their friends in the North.

At Tuscaloosa our prisoners were subje ed to the most brutal treatment imaginable. The first day of their arrival there one of our men, while sitting in a window, was shot through the head by the guard, and and fell into the street a corpse. Capt. Lawler, of the Eighteenth Illinois, was placed in close confinement, heavily ironed, for two weeks, upon bread and water, for simply answering a question addressed to him by one of his own men. The guards were then ordered to shoot down without warning any officer who might be seen talking to the Federal privates, and the sentinels actually went about with their guns cocked, ready to shoot any "Yankee" whose head might be seen at the window. The prisoners at this place were under charge of a out to be simply a fizzle. It has been from Henry blood-thirsty scoundrel named scrambled to get possession of the dirty remnants from the cabin table as they were thrown upon the deck below. On the passage one poor wretch, who was too weak to clutch his share, absolutely died from starvation. Two other poor devils, who were crawling along on all fours to get their share, being too weak to stand, were bayoneted off the boat. Another in the same condition was bayoneted in the head, then knocked into the hold, and lay at the point of death three months from his wounds.

Those whose constitutions were unequal from sheer neglect. Murder was a case of frequent occurrence. While at Montgomof a woman who lived in a house about thirty feet aslant from the prison. The prisoners would take their canteens, pass in single file to the window of the house, leave them, and the next morning, in the same order, proceed to the window and receive the canteens filled with milk.

One day Lieutenant Bliss, of the Secon Missouri Battery, was a little late to join ence and impertinence has been tolerated the precession, but, a short time after, he went to the window and asked the woman for the milk. "Come away from there, you Yankee of a b—!" said the sentinel, bringing his gun to his shoulder. "In one moment," replied the Lieutenant, the sentry's eye caught his attention. "My God! you don't mean to murder me?" said he, but had scarcely uttered the words heart.

Another murder in Macon took place on the 2d of July. A prisoner stood leaning against a tree a short distance from the sentry line. He was, without a word of warning, shot down by the sentinel and died the next day. At this place the guards were ordered by Major Ryland to shoot down, without even halting them, any prisoners who might approach within ten feet of the guard line. When this same officer, of the guard line. who was once a Methodist parson, was appealed to, on the ground of Christianity, to supply some additional comforts for thos were dying in the hospitals, he replied that he had put off the robes of righteous-ness and put on those of death. He said that he thought that neglecting the sick Yankees was the best way to get rid of them When Lieutenant Jackson, of the Twelfth lowa, died, his friends desired that a Ten nessee clergyman—a prisoner—might be allowed to officiate at his funeral, but Ryland refused, unless a rebel preacher was allowed to be present and take part in the razor-strop which he claimed was covered with a piece of Yankee skin. Another had a terial. A third wore ostentatiously upon his heel a spur which he asserted was made from the jaw-bone of a Yankee invader.

The Kentucky correspondent of the Cincinnati Times relates the following slightly doubtful story:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22. The Richmond Whig, of the 20th, contains an editorial on the affairs in Kentucky. This retrogade movement has pro-foundly disappointed and mortified our people, and dashed the fond hopes they had formed of liberating Kentucky and Tennessee. We had reasonably expected from Bragg's magnificent army, something more than a mere incursion to the neighborhood of the Ohio river. We had anticipated something more than boastful orders and sounding proclamations. We had formed exhalted hopes of the great expedition which he lead nearly up to Leuisville. His long delay at Tupelo; his hesitancy at Chattanooga; his tardy advance into Ken-tucky, had shaken the public confidence; but few were willing to condemn so long as an opportunity remained for the consummation of the grand objects of the campaign. It is all over now. The Kentucky move-ment in the hands of Bragg has turned the beginning to end a brilliant blunder and magnificent failure.

Nearly 300 soldiers, having been found in Sharpsburg without proper passes, have been sent to Harper's Ferry to work on the roads and bridges.

HEADQ'RS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, ? October 28d, 1862.

Yesterday, Captain Duncan made a re- lar mats. onnoissance to Hedgesville with two squadrons of the Fourth Pennsylvania cavalry, numbering one hundred and forty men. Hedgesville is seven miles northwest of Martinsburg, and one mile from North Mountain, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Captain Duncan drove the rebel pickets into the town, and then charged the prisoners, including three officers. They all belonged to the Tenth Virginia cavalry, except a Lieutenant from the Second South Carolina regiment.

None of Capt. Duncan's men were hurt. Refugees state that the rebels left Martinsburg on Tuesday. It is believed a por-tion of them went to Williamsport and a part to Shepardstown.

The destruction of property belonging to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has within the past few days been made complete. FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 22.

From the Richmond papers we have the following:

The gunboat Calhoun and a yacht, in which was Gen. Butler, saved the survivors. The Ceres was totally destroyed. Galveston papers, received at New Or-leans, state that several attacks had been made upon Corpus Christi, by our gunboats, nearly every house being hit by shot and shell. The gunboats were replied to by

A fire broke out about 11 o'clock last night in a small stable on Richardson wharf. The flames, aided by a high wind, spread to other stables and a building containing Kerosene oil, all of which were destroyed. The fire then crossed over to French's wharf, at which was lying a schooner discharging coal. She was nearly

A special to the Times, from Harper's Ferry, states that General Burnside been assigned to the general charge of the defenses of Harper's Ferry, and the second and twelfth army corps are placed under his orders for the present. The nights are now exceedingly cold, and the soldiers in their little shelter tents are really suffering. Very many are without blankets or overcoats. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

The schooner Elenor was burned, last night, in North river, and four persons were burned to death on board.

Clothing for the Confederates. COVINGTON, Oct. 14, 1862. The great scarcity of wool, compared with the wants of the Confederacy, has been, and still continues to be, a source of anxiety to our people. It is now selling at a price which almost places it beyond the reach of the poorer classes, with the pros-pect of a still further advance as the winer approaches. In this county a substitute for wool is now being made into a cloth by a great many persons, with the design of ising their wool for our soldiers in the field.

This substitute is cow hair. The cloth made of it is perhaps not quite so smooth as that made of wool, but is heavier, and, no doubt, will be nearly, if not equally, as warm, and will last fully as well. The hair is washed perfectly clean, and pulled or beat so as to have no bunches. After it is well dried it is ready for use. Like wool for ordinary cloth, it is used only for "filling." and mixed with about one-third cotton. The common and easier way of mixing is by ginning it with the cotton, although it could be, I suppose, mixed fully as well by "carding." If the same quantity, in weight, of seed-cotton and hair are thoroughly mixed and placed in the gin after the seed are seperated, the cotton lint will be about one-third of the hair. The breast of the gin should be a little raised, or the hair will cause the saws to choke.

Cow hair, thus mixed with cotton, may be carded, spun, and made into cloth, with no more trouble than is required for wool or cotton. The hair can be tanneries at fifteen or twenty cents per bushel. It is the cheapest material that can now be had for making cloth, and it is to be hoped that all who have negroes to clothe, and have cards and wheels and a loom, and can get the hair, will use it instead of their wool, keeping the latter for

INCIDENTS AND ANECDOTES OF THE WAR. On the second day of the battle of Corinth Mrs. Wilson and daughter, who reside in a cottage just behind Battery Richardson, discovering that they were in about as hot a place as could be found, fled from their dwelling, and dropped down into a thirty foot well, the storm of lead and iron whizacross the mou'h of the well, but struck the windlass and his hindquarters fell into the orifice. The poor women expected to be

HORRORS OF THE FIELD.

The mats of hair about the battle-field of Corinth presented a most forbidding spectacle. The spots where men fell saturated with blood, and to-day you can distinctly discern the exact position where many died by their hair. It was impossi-ble to bury all the dead within two days. During that period their bodies were horribly swollen, and when the burying parties took them up for interment, every par-ticle of hair fell from their heads in a mass and spread out upon the ground like circu-

A graphic story is related about Gen. Pope. He was very familiar with one of the officers on his staff, when he had a command in the West. When General Pope was starting for Washington to take command of the army of Virginia, he sent one of his staff back for something he had left main body of the rebels, taking nineteen at his old head-quarters. This officer met Pope's friend, and after saying good-bye, he rode away. Pope's friend hailed him be-fore he got out of hearing. He dashed back at a gallop, and asked what was wanted. "Give my compliments to Pope, and tell him he's a fool; his grave is dug," was the reply. VICTOR HUGO ON EDUCATION .- Victor Hugo has written a letter to the Social Science Congress at Brussels, in which he speaks as follows of education:

"The child—this is the supreme question the child has in his cradle the peace or war of the future. It is from that cradle we must chase away darkness. Let'us cause light to arise in the soul of infancy. Twenty-five years of gratuitous and obligatory instruction would change the face of the world. The child, I repeat it, is the future. The soil there is generous: it gives more than an year for the grain of wheat. Apply a spark there, it will become a blaze of light. To make a citizen let us begin by making a man. Let us open schools every Where there is not an individual the interior light which instruction gives. then he is no man. He is no better than the head of a beast as compared with the multitude-one which exists in idleness, and which the master will take by-and-by to the pasture, and afterwards to the abattoir. In the human creature that which resists slavery is not matter-it is intelligence. Freedom commences when ignorance is dispersed. I had wished to say these things to you, and other things also. I cannot renounce the opportunity of doing so without much regret; but you will not want eloquent voices and generous spirits. These councils of intelligence convoked from time to time are efficacious. The problems of the age are pressing usthey come—they are there. The moment is come when we should be prepared to receive them, and to raise the old warning cry of the Romans-Ad portas! I pray you, gentlemen, to be my interpreter to the congress, and to receive the assurance of my

THE HANDSOMEST MAN IN TROY. exhibition given in Troy, N. Y., on Wednes. day evening, a committee of ladies was appointed to make a pilgrimage through the audience and select the handsomest man in the room. The fair judges promptly discharged their duty, for which they were the recipients of the loudest plaudits of the assemblage. The lucky man whom the decision of the ladies pronounced the handsomest present was the Major of the 24th regiment. The superb Major received a prize as the reward for his good looks. The whole affair must have surprised the gallant Major, who, it is reported, was conveyed to his residence in a hack, but whether in charge

(ESTABLISHED IN 1845.) Ten Year Plan-Non-Forfeiture (Originated by this Company.)

General Agent.....E. W. TROTTER. Local Agents......WM. S. VERNON & SONS. THIS IS A PURELY MUTUAL COMPANY, ALL

It he profits being div. ded among the assured annually.

The Naw York Life P. INSURANCE COMPANY has been now in operation averenced years, and has accumulated a capital of $2,200,000. Its dividends have never been less than 30 per cent. o., I the premiums paid, and it has disbursed to widows and orphans over,$4,200,000. It has deposited with the Comptroller of New York State as an evidence of go. of faith to secure Policy Holders, $100,000, and its Trustees in New York city are of the very first and reliable names. The affairs of the Company show a lively prosperity, and each successive year, this great society. after disbursing some Two to Three Hundred Thousan, dis of Dollars, are adding to their Capital the like am unit.

In accordance with the require ments of the charter, the funds of the company are inv wied in stocks created by or under the laws of the State of New York, or of the United States, or on unincupulered Real Estate, worth fifty per cent. more than the amount loaned thereon.

worth fifty per cent, more than the amount loaned thereon.

TEN YEAR PLAN—NON-FORTEITURE—Originated by the New York Life Insurance Company. By the table on which this class of policies is based, it would seem that a person incurs no risk in taking out a policy. Insuring to-day for $5,000 if he dies to-morrow the five thousand immediately becomes a claim, and if he lives ten years, and makes ten annual payments, his policy is paid up; nothing more to pay, and still his dividends continue, making his life policy a source of income to him while living. The principal argument of weight offered against life insurance his that a party might pay in for a number of years, and then by inadvertence, inability, &c., not be able to continue paying, and then loose all be has paid. The New York Life Insurance Company has done much to obviate this objection by the Ten Year Plan and Non-Forfsiture. A party by this table, cannot forfeit what has been paid in. Thus, if one insuring by this plan for $5,000 discontinues after the second year, the company will give him a paid up policy, according to the number of years paid in, viz.

Second year, two-tenths of amount insured.....$1,000

And so on to the tenth payment, when all is paid and the dividends continue

To Whom it may Concern. CHIEF QUARTERMASTER'S OFFICE, LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 16th, 1862.

The public are warned against purchasing animals from any soldier, wagon-master or teamster, or other person in the Government service, whether branded or not. The practice, on the part of soldiers, teamsters and others, of selling, and on the part of citizens of buying, animals belonging to the Government, and animals captured by the United States forces, is carried on, in this section of the country, to a criminal extent. Parties have bought from soldiers and citizens, animals having unmistakeable marks, showing them to be Govern-ment property, and have also bought captured property, for mere songs, when the ought to have been conclusive proof that branded or not, is Government property. Parties buying, under these circumstances, are equally criminal with those selling. Rigid search will be made, in future, for all Government property now held or hereafter obtained by parties, and wherever or whenever found, will be seized in the name of the United States, and the parties engaged in this rascally business will be arrested and dealt with according to law.

Warning is further given, that whenever estray animals belonging to the Governnent are caught up or taken and placed in charge of any one for keeping, the parties in whose charge they are so placed, must im-33 00 mediately send notice to Capt. W. F. Harris, 33 00 A. Q. M., at his office, on Main street, above 66 00 First, of the fact. Where this is not done, and parties continue to retain such animals . 33 00 with the expectation that their bills for . 33 00 taking care of them will be paid by the Government, the animals will be taken up in the name of the United States, and no compensation allowed. W. JENKINS. Capt. and A. Q. M. oc19 d3eod

Proclamation by the Governor, COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY,)

gressional District: WHEREAS, James S. Jackson, member of Congress elect from the Second Congressional District, has resigned his said office. Now, therefore, I, James F. Robinson, Governor of the said Commonwealth, do hereby direct that an election be held in said counties at the several places of voting therein, authorized by law, on Monday, the 27th day of October, 1862, for the election of a member of Congress for said district, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resigna-tion of the said James S. Jackson; and that you cause polls to be opened in your said counties and precincts accordingly, and proceed to conduct and make due return of said election, in the mode and manner prescribed by law. In testimony whereof I have the seal of the Commonwealth to In testimony whereof I have be affixed, at Louisville, the 29th day of September, A. D. 1862, and in the 71st year of the Commonwealth.
